

Rose

Song Words

Here we offer a simple 4 line verse, which we will sing, in a round, as an inter-school choir at your festival performances. A recording of the simple version (Rose Rose - simple version) is available on the resource page.

Rose, rose, rose, rose
Shall I ever see thee wed
I marry that I shall
When thou art dead

Your class may like to sing this extended version of this song, and it could be used very effectively during 'The Golden Juliet'. section. Here's the second verse:

Ding dong, ding dong
Funeral bells on a Winter's morn
Rose, my rose, is dead and gone
Is dead and gone

Note - You will find many variations of this very old song on YouTube, but this is our particular version.
